COURSE DESCRIPTION

This is an introductory course in management of information organizations within a variety of organizational contexts. It is designed to develop a conceptual framework for integrating fundamental management concepts, principles, policies, theories, and practices into an effective personal management process that relates to information organizations of the 21st century. In addition, students acquire strategies for developing cohesive, productive management teams through experiential learning.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

At the end of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Recognize the characteristics of a well-functioning 21st century information organization;
2. Employ appropriate management theories in the planning, practice and evaluation of management within information organizations;
3. Demonstrate the relevance of the Information Provision Environment (IPE) to the resolution of information organization challenges;
4. Analyze information organization challenges, propose solutions and succinctly explain the reasoning behind proposed solutions;
5. Determine what constitutes appropriate outcome variables for an information organization;
6. Translate government legislation and professional ethics into appropriate organizational policies;
7. Design an advocacy strategy for a specific information organization;
8. Create a strategic plan for a specific information organization;
9. Practice strategies that result in cohesive, productive management teams;
10. Evaluate various approaches to team participation and management, including the communication of information within group settings;
11. Consider the importance of management to all persons working within, and serviced by, an information organization;
12. Establish methods to stay abreast of current developments in management within the information professions.

SEXUAL HARRASSMENT POLICY:
It is the policy of the University that its employees and students neither commit nor condone sexual harassment in any form. http://registrar.fsu.edu/bulletin/grad/info/university_notices.htm

SCHOOL OF INFORMATION HARDWARE AND SOFTWARE REQUIREMENTS:
A list of all hardware and software requirements for students participating in the School of Information courses can be found at the following location: http://ischool.cci.fsu.edu/academics/online/requirements/

STUDENT ELIGIBILITY FOR AN INCOMPLETE GRADE:
Incomplete ("I") grades will not be assigned, except in the case of exceptional unforeseen circumstances that occur within the last three weeks of the semester and your work has otherwise been satisfactory (C average).

University Attendance Policy:
Excused absences include documented illness, deaths in the family and other documented crises, call to active military duty or jury duty, religious holy days, and official University activities. These absences will be accommodated in a way that does not arbitrarily penalize students who have a valid excuse. Consideration will also be given to students whose dependent children experience serious illness.

Academic Honor Policy:
The Florida State University Academic Honor Policy outlines the University’s expectations for the integrity of students’ academic work, the procedures for resolving alleged violations of those expectations, and the rights and responsibilities of students and faculty members throughout the process. Students are responsible for reading the Academic Honor Policy and for living up to their pledge to “. . . be honest and truthful and . . . [to] strive for personal and institutional integrity at Florida State University.” (Florida State University Academic Honor Policy, found at http://fda.fsu.edu/Academics/Academic-Honor-Policy.)

Americans With Disabilities Act:
Students with disabilities needing academic accommodation should:
(1) register with and provide documentation to the Student Disability Resource Center; and
(2) bring a letter to the instructor indicating the need for accommodation and what type. This should be done during the first week of class.
