Students will learn how to teach, evaluate, and manage an instruction program.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:
At the end of the course, the student will be able to:
1. Apply learning theory to user education, and incorporate critical thinking strategies in user education.
2. To understand the different methods of user education and their applicability in different types of libraries.
3. Use library technology in the teaching process.
4. Design and present parts of a user education program.
5. Become familiar with some of the major literature in the field and some of the major resources for library user instruction.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS AND EVALUATION:

Teaching Observation
Students will locate a formal class that is being taught in a library and make arrangements to observe the class and interview the librarian after the class. This should be an educational program taught by a professional librarian. (Story hours are not applicable.) You will write a paper based on your experience.

Teaching Project
Students will develop and teach a class. This can be tailored to any age user or any type of library. Student will need to make arrangements with a local librarian to complete this if you are not currently employed in a library. This project should include a ten minute digital video segment of your class. Students are also required to use visual aids in presentations as well as at least one printed handout.

Professional Learning Network (PLN) Project
Students will curate online professional resources that will continue their learning outside of formal experiences at FSU. Online professional learning network will be defined in the broadest way possible: If a resource is online and it helps to achieve your learning goals, it is a part of your learning network.

Professional Learning Network Presentation
Students will participate in a virtual poster session in class to share their PLN site in small groups by type of information setting. Each group will be provided with 15 minutes in order to share the best resources as well as the pros and cons of their various curation methods.

Discussion Boards
Students will engage in class discussions and activities demonstrating an understanding of required readings and assignments.

Extra Credit
An extra credit project may be completed that is worth 5% of the total grade. (50 points) Extra credit projects are available by any of the following:

1. Attending a professional conference or presentation concerning library instruction or information literacy. Students can attend a state or local conference directed to library professionals and write a
1000 word essay about the experience. The essay should relate the presentation to class readings and discussions.

2. Completing a service-learning project. Students may donate their time and expertise to assist a librarian who is conducting a class or educational program. Assistance may be offered in helping to plan or execute the class, develop handouts, a media presentation, display, etc. Write a 1000 word essay about the experience. The essay should relate the presentation to class readings and discussions.

3. Creating a library instruction video similar to: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ScydzFB3c14 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ScydzFB3c14%20%20%20%20 The video should be one that can be used by SLIS distance in utilizing the FSU library online resources. Videos that are of high quality may be placed on the FSU Goldstein Library website.

Before starting any extra credit projects, students must contact Dr. Everhart via email for approval. Students may only do one extra credit project.

GRADE CALCULATION:

Teaching Observation 20% (200 points)
Teaching Project 25% (250 points)
Professional Learning Network (PLN) Project 20% (200 points)
PLN Presentation 20% (200 points)
Asynchronous Discussion Boards (3 @ 5% each) 15% (150 points)
Total 100% (1,000 points)

GRADING SCALE:

To assist in translating letter grades from points, the following pattern is used. The University assigns Quality Points (QP) per credit hour each semester in computation of the required grade point average (GPA) for retention and conferral of a degree.

A  (4.00 QP) = 93% and above  C  (2.00 QP) = 69-72%
A-  (3.75 QP) = 89-92%       C-  (1.75 QP) = 65-68%
B+  (3.25 QP) = 85-88%       D+  (1.25 QP) = 61-64%
B  (3.00 QP) = 81-84%        D  (1.00 QP) = 57-60%
B-  (2.75 QP) = 77-80%        D-  (0.75 QP) = 53-56%
C+  (2.25 QP) = 73-76%       F  (0.00 QP) = below 52%

The teaching assistant using the same detailed rubrics that are found with the assignments does all grading
